

Since its creation in 1911 Macmillan has changed its name and registered address several times, and you may come across these details in older Wills:

Former names:
Macmillan Cancer Relief
Cancer Relief Macmillan Fund
National Society for Cancer Relief
Society for the Prevention and Relief of Cancer
Former addresses:
15/19 Britten Street, London SW3 3TZ
Michael Sobell House, 30 Dorset Square, London NW1 6QL
47 Victoria Street, London SW1
Cheam Court, Cheam, Surrey (1940-1942)
15 Ranelagh Road, Belgravia, London SW1

Macmillan has also merged with other charities with similar objectives, to offer a better service to people affected by cancer. Below are the names of these charities, including old names, and their addresses:

Charity name
Cancerbackup, previously known as CancerBACUP BACUP
Cancerlink

Please be assured that legacies in existing wills to any of the above charity names will automatically come to Macmillan Cancer Support. There is no need to make any changes to your will.

However, we would always recommend that new wills or codicils including a legacy to Macmillan include our current name and registered address along with our charity number:

Macmillan Cancer Support
89 Albert Embankment
London SE1 7UQ
Registered charity number 261017
