

Making reasonable adjustments for your staff

Fatigue, pain and depression are some of the common side effects of cancer and its treatments that your employees may face. It can feel like a lot for them to manage, especially when they also need time off for treatment or check-ups.

Making reasonable adjustments can help support them. Legislation requires employers to make adjustments if the location, working arrangements or a lack of extra support puts someone with cancer at a substantial disadvantage. These changes may offer organisational benefits too.

WATCH OUR VIDEO >

Find out more and watch some real life examples >

Free CIPD entry

We will be exhibiting at the Annual CIPD Exhibition in Manchester, 4-5 November. We'd love you to join us so we can answer your questions. Register now for free entry.

If you can't come along, follow us on Twitter for updates.

REGISTER NOW >

Workplace resource

Read our Managing Cancer in the Workplace guide [PDF] for information and practical advice about how you can support employees affected by cancer, including examples of best practice. It also covers your responsibilities as an employer and your employees' rights.

GET THE GUIDE >

Barbara's blog

Our resident blogger and HR expert, Barbara Wilson, considers this month's topic:

What does the Equality Act mean for Employers?

READ MORE >

MANAGING CANCER IN YOUR WORKPLACE

MACMILLAN AT WORK
Training. Support. Knowledge.

Don't miss our interactive
open workshop training session in London on Thursday 24 September

Find out more >

Take part in World's Biggest Coffee Morning

Come together on 25 September and show support for employees affected by cancer.

Go all out with an office bake-off and invite clients and suppliers along, or just get teams together for a cuppa and a chat.

Sign up for your free Coffee Morning kit >

GET IN TOUCH

If you have any questions about work and cancer, don't hesitate to get in touch with the team on workandcancer@macmillan.org.uk or follow us on Twitter @workandcancer

To view past newsletters, visit macmillan.org.uk/workandcancerenews

Are you, or is someone you know, living with cancer?
We can help you. Call 0808 808 00 00
(Monday – Friday 9am – 8pm) or visit macmillan.org.uk

You are currently subscribed as abanting@macmillan.org.uk. Please add us to your safe senders or contacts list to ensure you continue to receive emails from us.

If you would like to leave feedback about this newsletter or the work Macmillan does, please do so.

If you wish to stop receiving emails, please unsubscribe.

Macmillan Cancer Support, registered charity in England and Wales (261017), Scotland (SC039907) and the Isle of Man (604). A company limited by guarantee, registered in England and Wales company number 2400969. Isle of Man company number 4694F. Registered office: 89 Albert Embankment, London SE1 7UQ. 0 / 0