

GET DOWN ON WE ARE MACMILLAN. CANCER SUPPORT

Why not beat the winter blues by celebrating Australia Day?

Not from Oz? No worries. Here are some great ways to have a bonzer day and help people affected by cancer at the same time, so you didgereedon't have to miss out on the fun this January.

Calling all Bruces and Sheilas

Celebrate Australia Day on 26 January

Hold a bush tucker trial.

Now the last of the turkey and sprouts have been eaten, why not act like those celebrities in the jungle and polish off some witchetty grubs? Ugh, not really. But you could organise your own squeamish bush tucker trial and charge a few quid for people to enter.

G'day possums. Why don't you and your colleagues pay £1 to wear your snazziest summer shirt or brightest frock to work? You'll really liven up these dreary winter days and feel bonzer for it.

Invite your friends and family round for a barbecue with a difference. Wrap up warm and head outside for kangaroo burgers, shrimp kebabs and tinnies of amber nectar. Charge a fee for your tasty treats. It's only fair dinkum.

Are any of your colleagues' little nippers budding Rolf Harrises? Why not hold a colouring competition to find out? Get them to donate £1 to enter and arrange a ripper prize for the champ. We've designed a competition picture and form for you to use.
