PUTTING THE 'FUN' INTO FUNDRAISING ...

Not to mention the ‘fund’ and the ‘raising’.

A guide for Schools
Thank you for choosing to support Macmillan. Every single pound you raise will help us improve the lives of people living with cancer and their families.

Inside you’ll find lots of ways to get involved – from hosting an event to individual challenges. We hope you enjoy being part of Macmillan and we are delighted to welcome you to the team.

Why we need you
We know a cancer diagnosis can affect everything. Your work, your finances, your relationships – your whole life. That’s why we provide emotional and practical cancer support – so when someone’s facing a difficult time, they can start to feel more in control again.

And now thanks to your incredible efforts, we’ll be able to reach even more people who need us.

Giving you a helping hand
As a member of Team Macmillan, you’ll receive guidance on organising your events and fundraising for it. We’ll be with you until the big day and beyond. We’ve also got loads of resources that can help you out – simply head over to be.macmillan.org.uk to find out more.

For info, advice or if you just need some moral support, give our Fundraising Support Centre a call free on 0300 1000 200 or drop us an email at fundraising@macmillan.org.uk

Now all that’s left to say is good luck and over to you …

Best wishes,

Claire Singlehurst

Notes
Shhhhh!
The sound of silence in a school. Unheard of? Not if you challenge pupils to not speak to raise money.

Spelling bee
S-P-O-N-S-O-R-S-H-I-P. Get students to ask for a donation per word they get right.

Non-uniform day
Casual clothes day, own clothes day, home clothes day, non-uniform day, civvies day, dress down day – whatever you call it, kids love it. You could also do ‘bring a game to school’ day. Both for a suggested £1 to Macmillan.

Guess how many...
Sweets in a jar is an old favourite, but let’s get creative. How about …
- footballs in a car
- baked beans in a bucket
- pound coins in a sock
- chocolate bars in a dustbin
- Scotch eggs in a goldfish bowl?

Charge a small fee per guess – and make sure you remember the magic number.

Treasure hunt
Whether you pound the pavements or forage in your school field, get teams to hunt for a series of clues to find the lost treasure. To help raise lots of booty for Macmillan, ask children for a small donation to dress up as a pirate or anything else they fancy.
Go the distance
Get your school or club to cover a distance using pound coins. It could be a mile or it could be the length of a school hall or playing field. Whatever the distance covered, the money raised will go a long way to help people affected by cancer.

Dress up and Dance
Has your school got the moves? Why not hold a non-uniform day with a twist and take part in Macmillan’s fundraiser Dress Up and Dance. Ask your kids to bring in a donation, and don their favourite dance outfit for the day. Think jiving in jeans, twirling in tutus and hip-hopping in hoodies – we’ll even provide you with your own dance DVD.

With everyone dressed up (and in face paint, if you fancy it), just put on the DVD packed with dance moves and get groovy. All of this fun can even count towards curriculum learning objectives.

To help you make your event as successful as possible, here’s our handy list of hints and tips.

Event essentials
Our supporter website be.Macmillan is designed to support you in your fundraising efforts. To find out more, visit be.macmillan.org.uk

Make your own
If you need an eye-catching poster, a flyer, invitation or tickets, be.Macmillan has hundreds of templates for you to choose from. All you need to do is pick your product, add your event’s details, download it to your computer and print. Simple.

Merchandise
be.Macmillan is also your one-stop shop for Macmillan event merchandise. Check out all the great items we have to support you – from t-shirts to balloons, collection tins and more.

Ideas, ideas, ideas
Visit our ‘Ideas of the month’ section on be.Macmillan for tons of topical fundraising ideas. And if you need support with any of your own ideas, call our friendly fundraising team on 0300 1000 200 or email fundraising@macmillan.org.uk

To see how other supporters have promoted their events using be.Macmillan, watch our short video at be.macmillan.org.uk/supporters

Spread the word
Promoting your events will help you shout about your efforts and ultimately raise more money for Macmillan.
Look local
To tell people about your fundraising, you could use local media – such as newspapers, radio stations or even TV stations.

Get social
Social media sites, such as Facebook and Twitter, are a great way to tell your friends and followers all about your fundraising efforts.

And you can also keep in touch with Macmillan on Facebook at facebook.com/macmillancancer and @macmillancancer for Twitter.

(Fund)raising the bar
As well as putting on a great event, make sure you give supporters plenty of ways to donate their dosh and help fund all the essential services Macmillan provides.

Set a target
Fundraisers often tell us that they find it helpful to set themselves a fundraising target. It can help you stay motivated right up until the big day and also help to boost the total that you raise. Win-win.

Make donating a doddle
JustGiving is an easy way to collect donations from friends and family online. Simply set up your own web page at justgiving.com and share the link with your supporters.

Set up a unique text code
Make it even easier for people to support you by setting up a unique text code – that’s automatically added to your JustGiving total.

All you need to do is make sure your JustGiving page is set up, log into your account at justgiving.com/macmillan and follow the instructions. Once you’ve got your code, let everyone know about it by popping it on all of your fundraising materials and post it proudly on social media.

For more information, head to justgiving.com/justtextgiving

Gift Aid
It’s no secret. At Macmillan we love the taxman just as much as we love you and your supporters. That’s because for every £1 someone sponsoring you donates (provided they’re paying tax at the time of the donation) HMRC will give us an extra 25p at no cost to them.

So, in order for us to magically turn every pound you raise into £1.25, please make sure all of your supporters use Gift Aid on their donations.

To find out more, download our quick and easy guide to Gift Aid leaflet by logging onto be.macmillan.org.uk and enter ‘gift aid’ in the search field.
Andy had always been a dab hand in the kitchen and enjoyed passing on his culinary talents to 14 year old daughter Grace. So when Andy lost his appetite because of pancreatic cancer, Grace put everything she learned to good use by cooking up some tasty treats for him.

Among Andy’s favourites of Grace’s delicious dishes, were homemade soups and her Victoria sponge cake.

And Grace also mucked in to help her mum, Denise, when it came to family meal times. Denise says: ‘She was a good support, she offered to cook which helped to take a load off me.’

Making a difference
Throughout it all, Andy and his family had support from a Macmillan nurse. ‘She understood how we felt and understood the emotions we were going through. She helped us with the complicated forms and to get the right equipment at home for Andy,’ says Denise.

Determined to give something back to Macmillan, and use all her foodie skills, Grace signed up to host a Macmillan Coffee Morning. Before the event Grace’s mum told us: ‘We’re getting all our neighbours and family round. Great to make time for family and get to know people.’ Grace also held one at her new school recently – raising £1,200. Amazing.
At just four years old, Sam was diagnosed with kidney cancer. Fortunately the family’s Macmillan nurses were there to give them the ‘normality’, Pippa, Sam’s mum, says that they needed.

‘We were relaxing at home and Sam just collapsed in pain. I was worried it was kidney stones, but it was far worse.

‘I felt like a cloud was lowered around me. I heard the word ‘cancer’ and it was like everything carried on happening around me. It was too much to handle,’ says Pippa.

It was through the strength of Sam and his Macmillan nurses that helped the family cope. Pippa says: ‘Sam was absolutely brilliant. Children surprise you with their strength. Macmillan was absolutely fantastic with him. And our Macmillan nurses were there whenever we needed them.’

Living life to the full
‘Macmillan would travel into the school and clean Sam’s line for him. It seems like a little thing, but it gave him more normality. He was full of life and really positive.

‘Macmillan also gave us a great booklet about how to talk to children about cancer – and we used that for Sam’s sister Amy. It really helped with something that was very difficult,’ says Pippa.
Use this handy planner to help you stay organised throughout the year – whether you’re planning a jumble sale in January or a disco in December.

To get you started, here are some questions you might want to think about:

WHERE will it happen?
WHO is going to come?
WHAT do you need?
HOW will you raise money?

And remember, our Fundraising Support Centre is also here to lend a hand. Call us on 0300 1000 200 or email fundraising@macmillan.org.uk
Fundraising is all about having fun and raising money but it’s also subject to laws and legislation. Don’t worry though we’ve broken down this need-to-know info for you.

Collections
Collections are a great way to raise money, especially in a busy area. However if you’re planning a collection that takes place in a publicly owned place then this is governed by strict legal requirements and must be licensed by your Local Authority (Northern Ireland has slightly different regulations). Before you approach your Local Authority for a license, please advise us of your plans and await approval. Licenses are not required on privately owned land – just ensure you have the permission of the owner or business.
Raffles and lotteries
Raffles, lotteries and prize draws are all governed by legislation – so before holding one and spending money on getting tickets printed, please contact our Fundraising Support Centre. Also, be aware that lottery laws cover any events which are purely down to luck or chance, such as duck or balloon races even.

Insurance
When you organise a fundraising event, you’re responsible for making sure it poses no risk to others. That’s why we’d recommend you take out public liability cover for events such as a sponsored walk or sports event. Unfortunately, Macmillan’s own policy won’t cover you but we can advise you about the kind of cover you need. Just get in touch with our Fundraising Support Centre.

Food hygiene
Please take great care when handling food and work to basic rules for safe preparation, storage, display and cooking. No one likes a poorly tummy, especially as a reward for raising money for charity.

Data protection
Make sure any electronic or paper records you keep about people involved in a fundraising event complies with the Data Protection Act. As a rule of thumb, don’t keep information about people any longer than you have to, and don’t share information or data about someone without their permission. For further details of our Data Protection policy please refer to macmillan.org.uk/dataprotection

If you have any further questions, or if you have any specific fundraising ideas you want to discuss you can contact our friendly fundraising team on 0300 1000 200 or at fundraising@macmillan.org.uk
IT'S EASY TO PAY YOUR MONEY IN
Please follow these guidelines for the different methods you can use to pay in the money you have raised or donated to Macmillan Cancer Support.

Head to the bank
If you’d like to make a donation in person, you can pay in cash and cheques at the bank. For a paying in slip that you can use at any branch of NatWest, RBS or Ulster Bank please contact our Fundraising Support Centre. Call us on 0300 1000 200 or email fundraising@macmillan.org.uk and make sure you leave your details with us so that we can send you an acknowledgement letter.

Pop to the post box
Cheques made payable to Macmillan Cancer Support can be sent by post to: Freepost RTHE-KYHB-TRTJ, Supporter Donations, Macmillan Cancer Support, Camelford House, 87-90 Albert Embankment, London SE1 7UQ. Please make sure you include the donation form included in the pack and don’t forget to tell us about your amazing fundraising efforts.

Hop online
You can pay your money in to us directly at macmillan.org.uk/yourevent or you can make a bank transfer or BACS payment. Just contact the Fundraising Support Centre (you’ll find our details above) and we’ll provide you with a reference number and our account details. Or, why not set up a page on justgiving.com? It will collect money from your supporters automatically and take all the hassle out of collecting your sponsorship.
Make a song and dance for Macmillan by joining in with our non-uniform day with a difference – Dress Up and Dance.

All the funds you raise will help us to make sure when someone’s facing a difficult time, they can start to feel more in control again.

Make your gift work harder

Do you pay tax? If so, by simply completing this form you can boost the value of your gift by 25p for every £1 without costing you a penny. If I have ticked the box headed ‘Gift Aid’, I confirm that I am a UK Income or Capital Gains taxpayer. I have read this statement and want Macmillan Cancer Support to reclaim tax on the donation detailed below, given on the date shown. I understand that if I pay less Income Tax or Capital Gains tax in the current tax year than the amount of Gift Aid claimed on all of my donations it is my responsibility to pay any difference. I understand that the charity will reclaim 25p of tax on every £1 that I have given.
