

Macmillan lottery £100million Thank you video

We're looking for volunteers to help us thank our amazing weekly lottery players, who have raised an incredible £100million for Macmillan.

Can you help us by recording a Thank You video? We'll be editing together clips from each video submitted, to create one final 'thank you' video which we'll be sharing with our lottery players in June when we hit this incredible milestone. Here are some tips about how to record your video...

Recording your video

- Record the video in portrait mode on your phone.
- You can record this 'selfie style' or ask someone else to record for you, aiming to capture 'head and shoulders' in the shot.
- If you have a green Macmillan tshirt you can wear this, but if not, your own clothes are fine!
- Once you've recorded the video, please send it by email to teammacvols@macmillan.org.uk, no later than the end of May.
- Record yourself saying the script below to the camera. Speak slowly and clearly, and feel free to do a couple of takes. And don't forget a big smile!

The Script

"Thank you so much for supporting Macmillan by playing our weekly lottery. With the help of you and our other lottery players, our lottery has now raised an incredible one hundred million pounds.

There are almost three and a half million people living with cancer in the UK, with nearly a thousand being diagnosed every day. Playing the Macmillan Lottery means that people living with cancer can get the vital support they need, when they need it. We couldn't do it without you – thank you!"

Are you a lottery player?

If you're a lottery player yourself, we'd love your help too! As well as recording the above video to help us thank other players, you could also record some extra clips sharing your story with us – you could tell us why you play, what you enjoy about the weekly lottery, and whether you've won!
