Signs of cancer

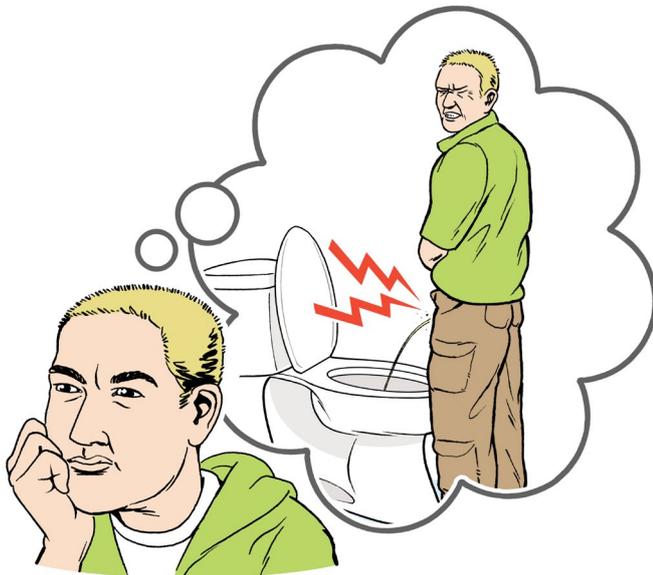

About this easy read booklet

This booklet is about signs of cancer.

You can learn about how to look for changes in how you feel or how your body works.

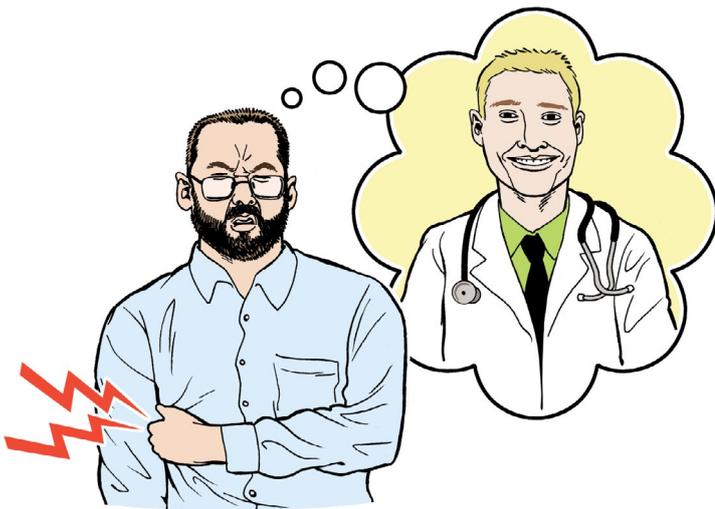

If you are worried about your health, you should talk to a doctor or nurse.

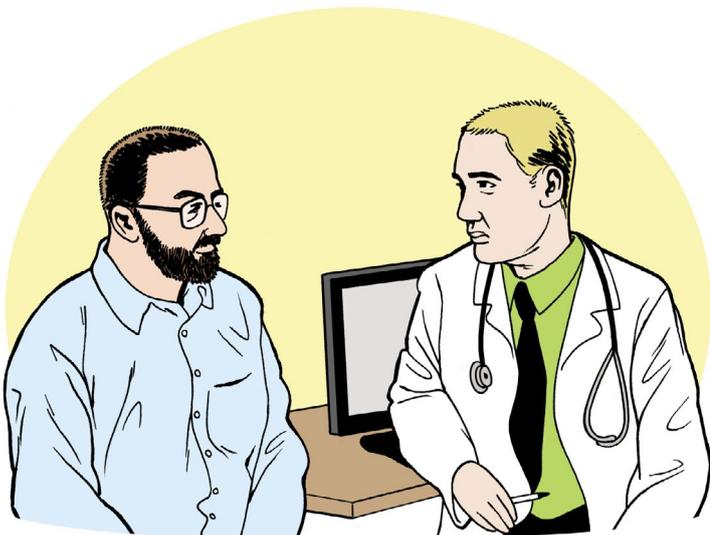

Signs of cancer

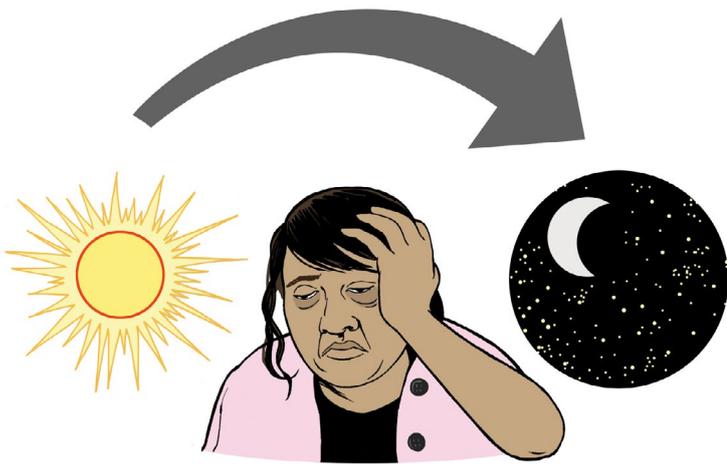

Cancer can cause changes in how you feel or how your body works. These are called signs or symptoms.

Sometimes these signs and symptoms are caused by other illnesses. But it is important to have them checked.

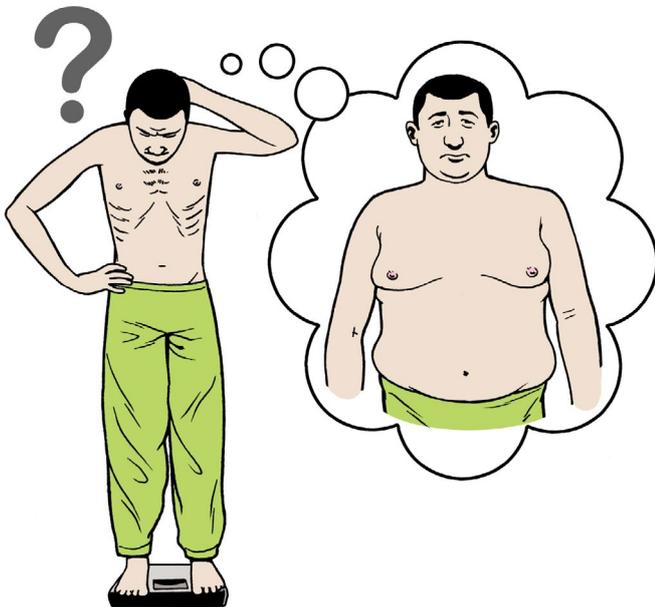

If you have any of the symptoms on the next pages, tell your doctor as quickly as possible.

Tell your doctor:

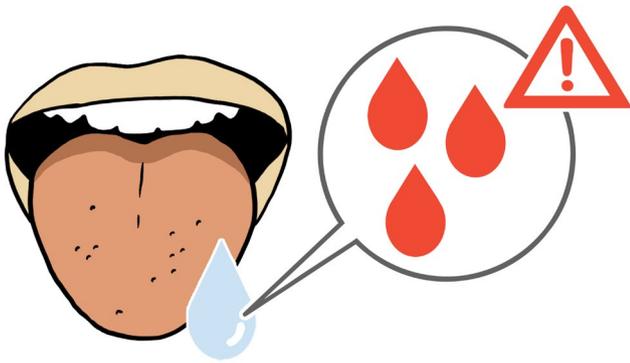

- If you start to feel tired all the time.

- If you lose weight but do not know why.

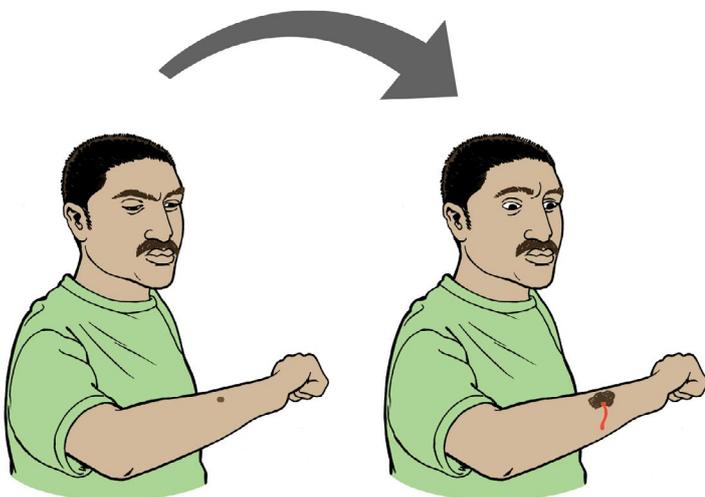

- If you get out of breath for no reason, or you have a nasty cough or sore throat that does not go away.

- If you have blood in your spit, vomit, pee or poo.

- If you have a lump under your skin anywhere on your body, even if it does not hurt.

- If you have moles on your skin which have changed shape or colour, or started to bleed.

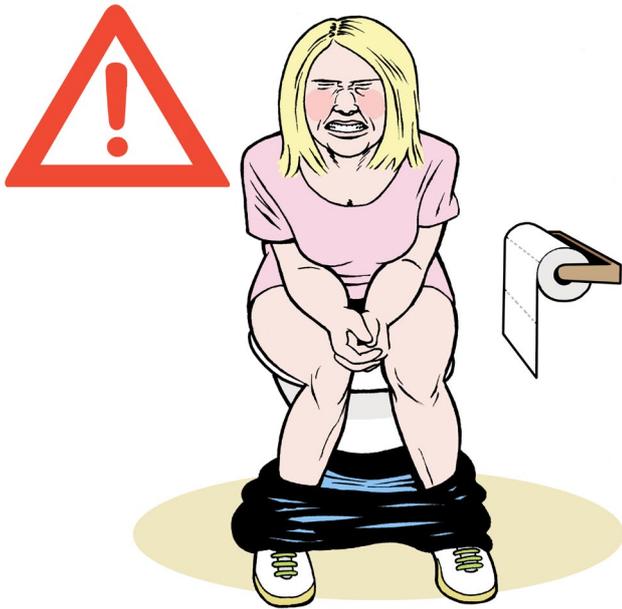

- If you have an ache or pain that does not go away and you do not know why.

- If you find it hard to swallow food or drink.

- If there is blood in your pee or poo.

- If you find it hard to poo. This is called constipation.

- If your poo is watery and runny and you have to go more than usual. This is called diarrhoea.

- If you do not feel as hungry as you used to. This is called a loss of appetite.

- If you get bruises for no reason.

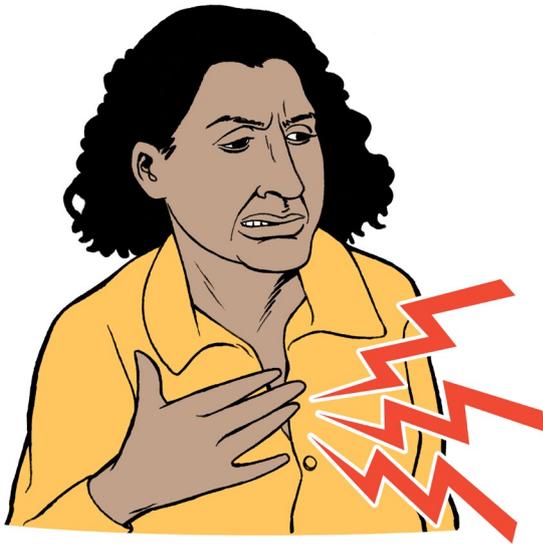

- If you have a headache all the time.

- If you have a sore or ulcer that does not get better.

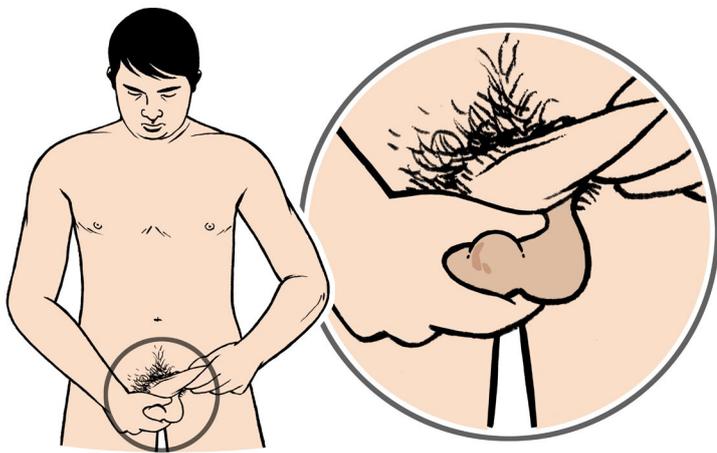

- If you often sweat or feel hot or shivery and you do not know why.

- If you often have heartburn. This is a burning feeling in your chest that can happen after you eat.

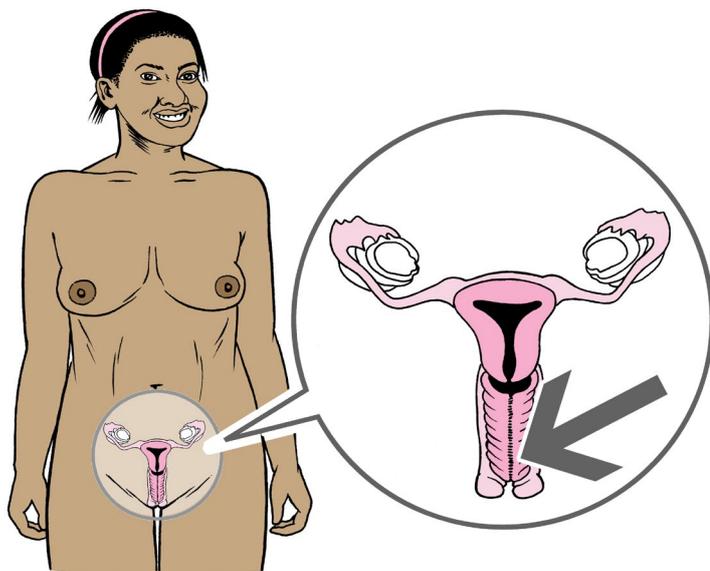

- If you always need to pee or it hurts when you pee.

- If you have a lump or sore on your penis or balls.

- If you are bleeding a lot more than usual during your periods. Your period is when you bleed from the vagina once a month.

The vagina is a passageway inside the body. It is part of the sexual organs. The entrance to the vagina is between the legs.

You have a vagina if you are a woman, a trans man or you were assigned female at birth.

Assigned female at birth means that when you were born the doctor said you were female. But this may not be the same as your gender.

- If you are bleeding between your periods.

- If you are bleeding after sex.

- If you are bleeding from the vagina after having the menopause.

The menopause is the time in life when periods stop. It is usually between the ages of 45 and 55.

- If you have a lump on your vulva or it feels itchy and sore.

The vulva is part of the sexual organs. It is the flaps or folds of skin between the legs. They are around the entrance to the vagina.

If you have questions about the signs or symptoms of cancer, you can ask your doctor or nurse. They should be able to help.
